

This chart illustrates the most common paths for fulfilling the foreign language distributional requirement. Additional paths and detailed information are in the Yale College Programs of Study.

NOTE: Students who demonstrate by examination at Yale that they are native speakers of a language other than English must successfully complete instruction in a third language, neither English nor the native language, through the level designated L2. Alternatively, students in this category who present a secondary school transcript showing that the language of instruction was other than English may fulfill the foreign language requirement by completing ENGL 114a or b, 120a or b, or 450b.
